Weekly Summary

Today's ending market compared to last week showed the lighter classes averages (400 lbs and down) ended $8 to $10 higher while the classes from 400 to 600 lbs stayed firm. Classes over 600 lbs also ended fully $7 to $10 stronger. Slaughter cows today reflected the packers need for inventory from no market activity the past several days due to the winter conditions. Slaughter cows and slaughter bulls easily were $10 stronger.

It appears the winter type conditions have slowed down movement but didn't dampen the bullish market demand as buyers stepped up their competition for today's feeder calve offering.
