

A photograph of a lighthouse situated on a rocky pier that extends into a large body of water. The scene is captured during sunset or sunrise, with the sky showing soft orange and blue hues. The water reflects the light from the sky. The lighthouse is a tall, white tower with a dark roof and a lantern room at the top. The rocky pier is covered with some green vegetation and small plants.

SANDRA DORSAINVIL

BEACONS of
HOPE