

MOVING / 2020 WALLS

at the Atlas Performing Arts Center

The Art Connection in the Capital Region invites you to participate in an exhibition and art placement project presented in partnership with the Atlas Performing Arts Center, a historic and cultural anchor in the H Street, Northeast community of Washington, DC. The Atlas fosters and presents stellar art in theatre, dance, music, vocal and choral work, spoken word, and more.

As part of ACCR's Art + Community series, this project will bring together visual artists willing to donate their artwork with qualifying nonprofit community service organizations that provide vital social services to underserved communities throughout the District.

At the close of the exhibition, the artwork, which will have been personally selected by staff and members of the recipient agencies, will be permanently gifted for display in the public areas of these agencies for everyone to enjoy.

Guidelines

- Original 2-D and 3-D media, with the exception of video and installation will be considered.
- All artwork will be displayed on music sheet stands and easels and must not exceed 24" wide x 16" in height, with a depth of 2.5"
- Work must be delivered framed or mounted in a professional manner and have all necessary hardware attached for installation. Plexiglass is preferred, but glass is acceptable.
- Insure your artwork if shipping.

Where Will the Donated Artwork Go After the Exhibition?

During the exhibition those nonprofits that have met our requirements for participation will select the artwork for their agencies. Often, the staff, Board and members of an agency will work together to make this decision. The donated artwork will be displayed in secure public areas of the agency, where its presence will enrich the lives of those who work in, and are served by, these organizations. The number of organizations receiving artwork will be determined by the number of pieces donated. A plaque that recognizes the artist, title of artwork, and the project will accompany the artwork to its new home. Your artwork will become a part of a permanent collection at this point!
