New Community Center Offers Art, Wellness, and Advocacy for All

Asheville, N.C.---BeLoved Asheville, a local nonprofit, will be opening its newest center in a move to expand their programs, services, and hours to the community. Adding to the array of projects BeLoved Asheville currently runs, they plan to engage more people as street medics, artists, skillbuilders, and community advocates. The center will offer a space to teach children, exchange skills, and host large community projects that are able to respond to greater needs.

An open house and space blessing will be held on October 11, 2018 at 6pm at the new space on the third floor of 10 North Market Street. The soul-full stylings of Rhoda Weaver will fill the space with music. Rhoda is a local activist and singer, singing both on the streets and in venues around Asheville. She has a deep heart for the people and social change. Vahisha Hasan travels the country through the Transform Network speaking about how to build movements for change and will be reflecting on BeLoved's identity as a center for mutual liberation in the context of movement work. She will also offer a space blessing.

BeLoved Asheville plans to provide an array of free programming to share with the community in the new space, such as music and art classes, Spanish-English language sharing, health and wellness programs like yoga, speakers on timely topics, and community concerns. The Center has a dedicated art studio and gallery, healing space, internet lounge, and community gathering/working/event space. The Center will also offer ways for people to get active making the community better and in advocating for change.

BeLoved Asheville actively seeks support to make their programs possible. Become a monthly sustainer today! To learn more on how to become involved, visit www.belovedasheville.com or e-mail belovedasheville@gmail.com.
