Dr. Cynthia Chavez Lamar

Director, National Museum of the American Indian, visits the UNM campus, April 28 and 29, 2022

Community Meet & Greet

April 28 / 2:00 - 3:30 P.M.

* Clark Field Archive and Library, Anthropology Department room 171 *

The Inaugural Annual Alfonso Ortiz Lecture

"Looking Back and Moving Forward at the National Museum of the American Indian"

April 28 / 7:30 P.M.

* Anthropology Department room 163 *

Reception

April 29 / 4:00 - 6:00 P.M.

* Hibben Center Atrium *

An enrolled member of San Felipe Pueblo, with Hopi, Tewa and Navajo ancestry, Dr. Chavez Lamar is the first Native woman to direct a Smithsonian Museum. A distinguished public scholar and leader with a long career in collaborative work with Native communities, she was involved with the Alfonso Ortiz Center at its founding. Her visit celebrates Alfonso Ortiz's legacy and the importance of the collaborative work that the Center promotes and funds.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

Alfonso Ortiz Center for Intercultural Studies