

What am I expected to return to school the last week of May?

- Digital devices (Chromebooks and/or tablets) and charging cords
- CKLA readers that were sent home (K-2nd). These look like consumables that can be thrown away, but they are not.
- Textbooks that are barcoded or that are obviously belong to the school
- Borrowed gym equipment
- Ukuleles that were borrowed from Mrs. Ravita
- ARPS Library books

What can I expect to pick up during the last week of May?

- All School Supplies, desk/locker materials and consumable workbooks
- Yearbooks (if ordered) (Please note that we are expecting yearbooks to be delivered by the end of May, however, with closures everywhere, this date may be extended. If so, we will work on a way to deliver or have you pick up later this summer.)
- Summer Activity Books (and Summer Learning Challenge) for all returning (PreK-7) students
- Medicine from the clinic
- End of Year Awards (printed out for you to keep)

What can you do for your teacher to make the end of year memorable?

- This is the first year (in many) that we will not be celebrating the traditional Teacher Appreciation Week. While I know that you have been appreciating them throughout this online format and throughout the school year, sweet notes and pictures from students and from you are always heart-warming. If you have something that you'd like to drop off to your teacher, please feel free to bring it at this time.
