IN THE WORDS OF AN ALUM

In a time and place that we are becoming increasingly isolated by the same technologies which theoretically connect us, there is a yearning to actually connect to other people in a real human way. To connect to one another in a way which is counter to the culture which seeks to commodify everything, including our relationships. To connect with one another in a way which feels like we are participating in the life of God, who comes to us as community.

What?

At Urban Servant Corps, we believe that people need each other — and that it is in community that we are able to live a more faithful, simple life that is in service to one another.

Urban Servant Corps is a faith-based, intentional community of full-time volunteers who seek to live simply while serving and accompanying those most in need at non-profit partner agencies in the heart of Denver.

USC positions accompany people experiencing homelessness, offer empowerment opportunities for women, educate pregnant and parenting teens, serve environmentally sustainable organizations and assist in resettling refugees.

How?

HOW DOES THE USC PROGRAM WORK?

- Potential volunteers begin to apply in January of the intended year of service. The program term runs from August to August.
- There are two community houses in central Denver where 8-10 volunteers reside.
- USC provides a private bedroom, health insurance, a $150 monthly stipend, and professional growth and development funds for each volunteer. Additionally, a community budget provides groceries and other household needs.
- Volunteers meet weekly for a Monday community night, monthly for a Friday community day and quarterly retreats. These times are for building community, growing in faith, gaining personal insights, and enjoying the beauty of Colorado!

AFFIRMATION OF WELCOME

We are called to be agents of healing in our society. To that end, USC actively welcomes individuals with diverse life experience including those of different age, race, sexual orientation, faith tradition, ability, and any other diverse background.

Urban Servant Corps is a Reconciling in Christ organization of the ELCA.
