

Grand Opening: The Pauli Murray Center

September 7, 10 a.m. - 2 p.m., 906 Carroll St, Durham

The Pauli Murray Center for History and Social Justice invites everyone to come out for a day filled with celebration, community, and thanksgiving as the center opens its doors to the public!

Be one of the first visitors to step inside the Durham childhood home of the Rev. Dr. Pauli Murray--Episcopal priest, civil rights activist, lawyer, educator, historian, writer, LGBTQ community member and Durhamite. Outdoor activities will feature original poetry, signature refreshments, meditation and reflection opportunities, a youth activity zone, and community concert. If you'd like to explore the interior of the newly renovated space, be sure to reserve your free, timed-entry pass.

Reserve your pass.

NEW: The ECW Harris Evans Conference

September 6, 7-8:30 p.m. via Zoom

The Episcopal Church Women (ECW) of North Carolina invite you to this year's Harris Evans Conference, where women across the diocese will engage in worship, prayer, study, service and fellowship, with the aim of sharing the good news of Jesus Christ. It is one of the many activities that the ECW undertakes to support the different gifts, values and ministries of women, and to advance the role of women in the mission of the Church.

This year's presenter will be the Rev. Lisa Fischbeck, who will be speaking on the conference theme of "churches expanding hospitality to provide supportive and affordable housing."

Register for the conference.