Railway Crossing Safety: Every Decision Matters

September was a particularly concerning month for railway safety in Saskatchewan, with five incidents recorded, bringing the provincial total to 18 incidents in 2026. Of those, 15 occurred at railway crossings, reinforcing the importance of staying alert around railway tracks.

As harvest wraps up and grain movement continues, rural roads remain busy with agricultural equipment, grain trucks and other large vehicles that require additional time to stop and safety clear crossings.

Whether travelling on familiar roads or through busy communities, never assume the tracks are clear. Trains can approach at any time, even on tracks where service is infrequent.

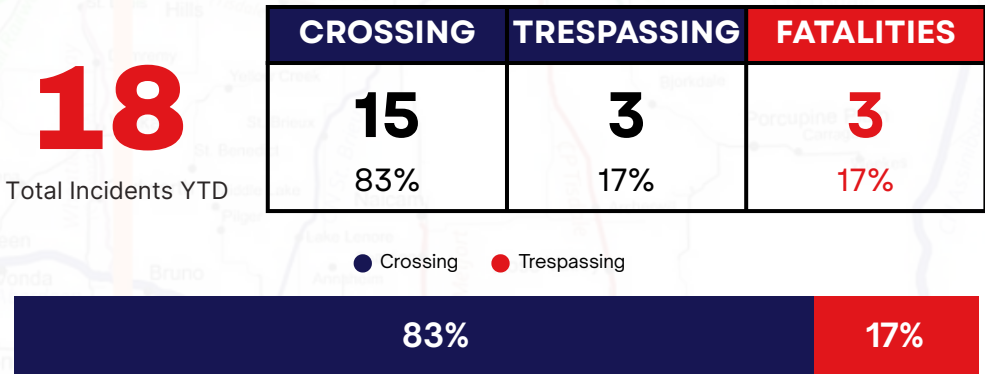

Railway incidents can have lasting consequences for families, railway employees, first responders and entire communities.

Rail safety is a shared responsibility. Slow down, look and listen, and make sure the tracks are clear before crossing.

One decision can change many lives.
