AGENCY: Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI)

Description

The Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) funds comparative clinical effectiveness research (CER) that helps people make informed healthcare decisions and improves healthcare delivery and outcomes by producing evidence from research guided by patients, their caregivers and the broader health and healthcare community. To learn more about the type of projects PCORI funds, see here.

Funding Opportunities

PCORI offers several different types of funding opportunities, including Eugene Washington PCORI Engagement Award Program awards, Targeted/Topical PFAs, Broad Pragmatic Studies (BPS) PFAs, and Implementation PFAs. Engagement Awards range from $125,000 to $300,000 and up to $12 million for Broad Pragmatic Studies. To see both open and upcoming opportunities, see here.

Eugene Washington PCORI Engagement Award Program

The Eugene Washington PCORI Engagement Award Program supports bringing more patients, families, caregivers and the broader healthcare community into the research process. Funding opportunities are offered that focus on capacity building, dissemination, and convening support. There are two Engagement award opportunity cycles per year. The next upcoming cycle due date for the Engagement Award: Capacity Building cycle is Sept. 29, 2025. See here.
