

- Help support current Miami Dade College students with a donation to the COVID-19 Student Relief Fund. Funds will help students meet basic needs such as food and cover tuition so they can continue their education.
- A number of Florida farms, including those in Palm Beach County, are selling fresh, locally grown produce directly to the public during this time. A statewide list can be found HERE.
- The \$1K Project uses personal networks to directly match a family impacted by the pandemic with a family committed to giving them $1k for 3 months. Nominate or sponsor here.
- Parachute by Rocket is helping exceptional employees land on their feet. Visit to add your own information if you are a job seeker, support your affected employees, or hire new talent.
- The Palm Beach County Food Bank is in need of donations to meet the growing need for food in the County.
- Synapse Resources is where Florida's innovation community can come to share ideas, projects, resources and skills to strengthen and support our community's efforts.
- Now more than ever, we are called to make a difference. The Urban League of Broward County ask you to join you in their mission in response to COVID-19 and become an Agent of Change by donating.
- The Red Backpack Fund is open to public donation, so anyone can partner with GlobalGiving to bolster women through entrepreneurship in their hour of need with a contribution to The Red Backpack Fund, backed by Sara Blakely (creator of Spanx) at GlobalGiving.
- Hospitality Helping Hands is a not for profit formed to help feed the hospitality workers, their families, local charities, and others in need due to the Corona Virus shutdown. Their mission is simple and directly impacts the local community.
- Miami Foundation's Community Recovery Fund provides critical help to Miami-Dade nonprofits whose operations are severely impacted and supports their long-term recovery, resilience and financial stability.
- Year Up South Florida is shifting to a virtual learning environment for its 140+ current students, including over 60 students completing internships with South Florida's leading employers. To ensure uninterrupted support and access to meaningful career pathways for its young adults, Year Up would be incredibly grateful if the community would consider supporting the COVID-19 Impact Fund.