WELCOME TO THE CITY OF PEACE...

The Baja Peninsula Long and deserted, the contrast of the pristine blue ocean and the unique living desert make the peninsula of Baja California one of the last frontiers for the lovers of nature. Endemic plants and animals witnessed for thousands of years the isolation of this land, inhabited only by nomadic tribes that left no signs of culture except rupestrian paintings of unknown origin now considered as heritage for humanity.

Club Cantamar, a family-owned business since 1983, is located just 9 miles north of the city of La Paz at Marina Pichilingue. The closest resort in La Paz to more than 25 dive sites, Club Cantamar's Baja Diving & Service offers the largest, fastest and most comfortable fleet of boats in the area. Out of respect for their environment, their slogan is "DON'T KILL ANYTHING, BUT TIME. DON'T TAKE ANYTHING BUT PICTURES, AND DON'T LEAVE ANYTHING BEHIND, BUT BUBBLES".

WHERE ELSE CAN YOU PET A WHALE?

Enormous Bahia Magdalena is home to thousands of breeding gray whales. The gray whale spends its summers in the waters off of Alaska, and then heads 6,000 miles south December through March to the warmer waters of Baja to mate & give birth in protected shallow lagoons. Bahia Magdalena, which stretches about 100 miles from north to south, is also host to dolphins & more than 100 species of marine birds, including huge white pelicans, brant geese, and many waders. These birds enjoy spending their winters in the emerald mangrove forests that line the lagoon. On the other side of the dunes and barrier islands that separate Bahia Magdalena from the Pacific Ocean you'll find surf-pounded beach studded with countless shipwrecks and tragic history.

During our excursion to Bahia Magdalena you will experience why this part of Baja is famous for one of the "closest" encounters with a gray whale possible because our panga boats, captained by certified guides, are allowed to get within touching distance of these giants. During the course of one visit it is often possible to see up to 5-10 whales.
