

From the best Emotional Intuitive Counselor I know!!!!

2020 is a Master Number Year but what does that mean? Let's start by understanding that there is a master component to each of the single digit numbers. Most of us know the first 3: 11 - Spiritual Messenger, 22 - Master Builder, and 33- Healing Energies thru Love. Here is what all Master Numbers have in common: They all are guided by the heart and the intuitive process. They merge logic and practical living with the heart. They are not necessarily: scholars, preachers, etc. for anyone can become and utilize the influences of the Master Numbers.

This year, 2020, is the Master Builder which will enhance one's sensitivity or intuition. The Master Builder sees the big picture, can organize large undertaking, incorporate both spiritual and practical idealism's and most of all can help bring dreams into reality. They are natural leaders and have confidence, wisdom, are hard-working, honest, competent, and creative. The dual 2's are a double dose of partnerships, relationships, intuition, and sensitivity. Added together they equal the 4 which is hard work, discipline, organization, building, and finally bringing things into concrete form. All those who choose to live a 22/4 life have a mission to bring the metaphysical, spiritual, philosophical teaching into the physical and material world.

When we have a master number that influences a particular year such as 2020 we are being asked to incorporate and allow spirit to navigate the doing aspect and show us a more whole and honest direction. So why is that so hard? It is because our heart usually tells us when we're on the wrong path and this can create conflict. Many individuals I have worked with hate conflict, so they choose not to go forward. The easier path is to do what others have taught or what has already been working even if it is starting to fail. Why listen to the heart – it will only take you down your own unique path to truth.

When you start to blend heart with mental and physical work you will find individuals who love their work, love their mission, such as the sports figure or the nurse and maybe the teacher. Love pulls one into wisdom, rightness, confidence that the heart provides. Since the heart 's power will be activated this year 2020 or 22/4 year it will promote a better understanding of the etheric dimension and how one's intuitive self can create a deeper level of clarity.

The long and short of 2020 is that it is here to push you out of conflict of whether to follow your heart or follow your head by asking you several things. Can you blend the heart and the head, are you going to lead or are you going to follow? Or choice number 3, are you really going to choose to experience conflict for a whole calendar year in the areas of your life that needs to be resolved? I hope not. If you choose to lead, what will you bring to humanity this year that can help change individuals into becoming their most whole, wisest version of self? If you choose to follow – will you follow a path that helps you become one of those whole individuals and share with others the positive impact it has on your life? Either path will help humanity. Embrace 2020 for the influences that it is bringing. Open your heart and say, "Happy New Year!"
