

Hello!

I am Paul Harrison, and I work as a clinical counselor for the Department of Disability of Health and Human Services (DHHS). I provide individual and group therapy as well as coaching, assessment, and academic screenings to support students with physical and psychiatric disabilities, among others registered with the DHHS.

A large percentage of the students served by this mental health unit have psychiatric or co-morbid psychiatric disabilities and need mental health support to be successful at the university. As such, the unit provides the required mental health support while seeing and assessing undiagnosed university students with academic difficulties through the academic screening and assessment process. Alongside that, I am the director of the supervision, training, and coordination of Counseling Psychology and Clinical Psychology graduate students of the United States who have practicum at DHHS and APA-accredited school psychology pre-doctoral internship.

You have received this email because you have an offer from the University Office for Students with Disabilities to work with me. Should you choose to accept the offer, you will temporarily act as my personal assistant while we help students with disabilities who are frustrated with ignorance and the lack of services. To satisfy whatever curiosity you might have, I care about animal welfare, arts and culture, children, civil rights and social action, education, environment, disaster and humanitarian relief, social services, and lots more.

This is a very simple employment. You will only help me mail some letters, make a few payments at Walmart, and purchase some items when needed. This employment only takes an hour a day, three days a week, for $320 weekly.

I cannot meet up for an interview because I am currently away, helping disabled students in Australia. Nevertheless, you will be paid in advance for all tasks done on my behalf. Some of my letters/mail will be forwarded to your residence or nearby post office for you to pick up at your convenience.

Upon my arrival in the last week of October 2020, we will discuss the possibility of making this a long-term employment if I'm impressed with your services while I am away.

I got your email through a shortlist from the Human Resources Department to give out jobs to a few students at your university.

To apply, kindly email your full name, age, address, an alternate email (different from your school email), and your mobile number.

Best regards,
Dr. Paul Harrison.
