Last week, Retired Disciples Pastor Jeff Wright in CO. passed through Dulles Airport after visiting relatives in Scotland. "As we were directed by U.S. Customs for screening" he said, "the room was filled with Afghan families who had completed their flight to the States. They looked dazed and exhausted. Our church wants to help."

Again and again in recent days following the unexpectedly rapid fall of Afghanistan to Taliban control, Disciples have called to ask how they could offer help and welcome. Late last week when a traumatized relative of family members showed up at the door of First Christian in Falls Church, VA., Rev. Steve Moore wrote a letter of support, and later shared contacts for legislative assistance for the man's relatives. The church also supported their interfaith neighbors at Dar Al-Hijrah Islamic Center last Saturday in a donations drive (see above photo) to help welcome new arrivals. Today, the center sent the church a thank you, saying they are "amazed at the goodness of people" and now "busting at the seams with brand new items to distribute."

Disciples Refugee & Immigration Ministries, a ministry of Disciples Home Missions, is receiving calls from Chevy Chase to Nebraska to Oregon who are ready to live out God's call to welcome vulnerable refugees. And welcoming refugees—tens of thousands of them--is something Disciples have generously done since the end of World War II.

The Afghan Crisis is the call of our times for a revival of U.S. resettlement, which has been one of the most effective and non-partisan ways for churches to offer hope for decades. The heartbreak of needs is likely to be lengthy, and areas such as Northern Virginia/Maryland, Sacramento, Dallas, Seattle, and Atlanta are likely to receive high numbers of refugees. Many other areas will receive refugees, as well. Additionally, as we have seen through consistently unfolding news, Camp Atterbury in Johnson County is now joining Dulles Airport, along with Quantico, Fort Lee, and Fort Pickett in Virginia, Fort Bliss in Texas, and a growing list of other bases who are serving as temporary transit and processing centers--offering pathways of promise for Afghan refugees.

And, in Your Own Area:

LOCALLY HELP REFUGEES THROUGH PARTNERS LIKE THESE:

There are 9 state department approved refugee resettlement agencies in the U.S.; six of which are faith based. Disciples of Christ has a long-term partner relationship with Church World Service, which has a vibrant office in Indiana! RIM also works closely with all other resettlement agencies--and encourages Disciples to work offices nearest to them. Some local Indiana opportunities include:

- Exodus Refugee/Immigration Inc. (A CWS Refugee Affiliate Office.) <https://www.exodusrefugee.org/> 2457 E. Washington St., Suite A Indianapolis 46201 317-921-0836 317-204-2715. Note this messaging (updated 9/1): "Right now, Exodus is receiving a high volume of calls and emails about the evacuation in Afghanistan and how we can help Afghan refugees who may be resettled here in Central Indiana. While Exodus is preparing to welcome refugees to our community, our work will happen as the "next step" after refugees are processed at military bases throughout the country, including Camp Atterbury. To donate directly to Camp Atterbury, contact Laura from the National Guard at 317-247-3559. If you are interested in volunteering with Exodus, please visit <https://www.exodusrefugee.org/take-action/volunteer/> and complete a volunteer application! You can also help us by donating household items to Exodus. For a full list of items that we can accept, please visit <https://www.exodusrefugee.org/take-action/household-donations/>.
