Reynolds Homestead in Critz (Patrick County) is the setting for this three-day event that gets underway on Friday with the Bushels and Barrels Block Party at Stuart Farmers Market featuring Slick Jr. and the Reactors, from 6 to 8 pm and free to the public. On Friday, the Sustainability Workshop offers classes designed to increase self-reliance and promote sustainability with classes centering on organic gardening.

The festival begins on Friday at 7 pm with music by Urban Soil and the Mason Via Band. Saturday follows with a full day of live music, local wineries, craft brews, food, artists and artisans and lots of fun.

The fifth annual festival celebrates all things local with workshops, music, food, drink and more demonstrating all that Patrick and Henry counties have to offer. Food vendors will be serving up delicious meals with local ingredients. Artists and crafters will be selling locally made wares.

Friday night tickets are $15; advance $35 for Friday and Saturday. VIP $50 tickets include Friday night admission, BBQ dinner and two drinks per person, Saturday admission, VIP parking and t-shirt. Saturday tickets are $15 advance; $20 at the gate; general admission $10. Tickets available at
