Founded in 2015, James Charles Winery & Vineyard is the culmination of almost 20 years of Bogaty-family winemaking passion. In just the two years since opening to the public, wines from this label have already received acclaim from wine critics everywhere, including a double-gold medal at the San Francisco International Wine Competition.

The winery is located just outside of the city of Winchester, in the heart of Virginia's apple country. Refined and chic, yet accessible, the tasting room overlooks the farmland of the Shenandoah Valley and faces westward towards the Allegheny Mountains.

James Charles Winery was established to honor James Charles Bogaty, a pioneering force in the wine industry and founder of Veramar Vineyard in Berryville and Bogaty Winery in Leesburg. As winemaker at James Charles Winery, Justin Bogaty, follows in the family tradition of honesty, persistence, determination, dedication and a passion to produce wine that people the world over recognize as among the best.
