Harry Sempeles

Associate

Harry Sempeles is a registered architect with 19 years of experience in project management and the design of institutional projects. He first joined C.T. Hsu + Associates as an intern architect from 2001 to 2004, and rejoined the firm in 2015.

Sempeles' gratification as an architect comes from seeing a project come to life from beginning to end, and the relationships that are built in the process. His design experience includes commercial, residential, and institutional projects in California, Florida and North Carolina. At CTH+A, his project work includes: the Inverness Depot Pavilion, Orange County Convention Center-Hall C Dining Lounge, Orlando City Soccer Stadium, and Seminole High School/Career Vocational Education Building.

He holds a Master of Architecture degree and a Bachelor of Design degree, both from the University of Florida in Gainesville, and also completed a four-month program abroad at the Vicenza Institute of Architecture in Italy.

Outside of the office, Harry enjoys watching movies, especially comedies; travelling and cooking; and spending time with family.
