The First Academy Cramer Family Field House Opens

In February, The First Academy, a college-preparatory school in southwest Orlando, unveiled its new Cramer Family Field House designed by C.T. Hsu + Associates. “We wanted a one-of-a-kind Field House that would be not just a gymnasium, but a landmark of design and excellence,” said Jerry Chambers, The First Academy’s chief financial officer. “The result is amazing and we are thankful to have had C.T. Hsu + Associates ‘in our court.’” The 31,006 SF facility supports more than 20 different sports and serves as a focal point for the 22-acre campus. It features an NBA regulation-size competition court and two regulation-sized practice courts, and includes a collegiate-style sports performance area with a strength and conditioning center and an athletic training center in addition to athletic offices, food and beverage concessions, and a retail store.
