Master Teach Me . (Psalm 90:12,

You are Blessed to be a Blessing. Can you give the gift of today. Sometimes, our days can be so full and busy that we forget how precious and fragile our time on earth really is. It is only when you move into the later years of your life do you realize that your time is much shorter than when you first begun. It can be so easy to allow little things to creep in and steal our peace and joy.

Maybe something didn't go your way, or someone may have said something upsetting. Daily traffic to and fro, this 2021 covid-pandemic, home schooling the children, taking care of elderly parents, job loss ... and on and on and on will cause us to take our focus off if we let it.

The daily pressures of home life, work life, our social relationship with others, etc., how easy it is for us to remember ... each day is a gift. Before you know it we have chosen to focus on what wrong and in so doing we miss out on the beauty that each day has to offers.

Let us start today to encourage each other and not allow our small, our Memorable and heartfelt moments of life pass by. We should no longer wait for holidays and birthdays to show people that you care. Each day is unique in itself it cannot/will not ever be replaced.....our memories are all that we have to draw from...good or bad. Our life is a GIFT FROM GOD. Each of us have time that we can use wisely or wasted frivolously and unnecessarily and/or unwisely. The scriptures reads, "Teach us to number our days." He was saying, "Teach us to value every moment we've been given so we can live a life pleasing to You FATHER."
