Subject: Daniel Sanchez named news director for KOAA and KKTV

KOAA and KKTV Team,

I am pleased to announce that Daniel Sanchez, currently news director for KOAA, is taking on the expanded role of news director for both KOAA and KKTV in Colorado Springs, effective July 14th.

Daniel will work closely with both news teams as we continue to advance our vision to operate as one newsroom in Colorado Springs. This is an important next step in bringing KOAA and KKTV together in a way that protects what is working at each station, deepens our connection to the communities we serve and gives our teams the benefit of broader coordination across Colorado.

Daniel is well prepared for this expanded role. He has been with Scripps for roughly six and a half years and has served as news director at KOAA since April 2025. Before that, he was assistant news director and interim news director at KOAA, where he helped lead daily content strategy, special event coverage and newsroom execution. He has also held producer and executive producer roles at KOAA and our Scripps stations in San Diego and San Luis Obispo.

Daniel and I will attend the next available editorial meetings at both stations to answer questions and hear from the teams. In the meantime, please join me in congratulating Daniel on this new role and supporting him as we continue building the future of local news in Colorado Springs.

Thank you,

Ross White
Vice President, General Manager
