Please join me in congratulating Anthony Mague as he steps up to become News Director for NBC4.

Anthony's one of the best at what he does. He's done a great job of managing our stories and our shows, and the people that produce them. He leads by example and is willing to do what it takes to continue to make NBC4 the news leader in the DMV.

Anthony first joined us back in 2015 as a Platform Manager, after his time at WESH in Orlando as Executive Producer.

He's grown so much through his time here, first as the head of our Owned Stations DC Bureau, then as Dayside Executive Producer and eventually as Managing Editor.

Today's announcement opens our Managing Editor position, which we plan on posting ASAP.

If you have any questions, please let me know.
