After almost 32 years in television news, I've decided to take a break and eventually try something new. I've been the Assistant News Director here at KNSD, NBC 7 for two decades. During the pandemic, as everyone started to work from home, a few of us stayed in the building working to keep everyone safe and the information flowing. I think for me, it was tough for the same reasons people struggled in the field, not being able to easily connect with my friends.

I will take some time to wrap things up with my friends at NBC and Telemundo. We will then take an extended family vacation. I have really enjoyed my job and all of the people who have become lifelong friends in Oklahoma City, Kansas City and here in San Diego.

Hope that gives you enough to work with for the newsletter. I appreciate you taking time out to speak with me over the years during visits or on the phone. I'll keep reading the newsletter to keep up with the news.
