Subject: Robin Radin, Weekend Morning Executive Producer

Hello,

I just introduced the weekend morning team to Robin Radin, the new Executive Producer of the KTLA Weekend Morning News. Robin's experience and skills are a great match to strengthen the already successful show.

Robin started her broadcast career as a news line producer before moving into management roles at nationally syndicated shows including The Daily Buzz, Entertainment Tonight, e! News, The Ricki Lake Show and Access Hollywood. She helped launch Spectrum News Los Angeles as Executive Producer of Original Programming and most recently consulted for a number of local newsrooms around the country including the ABC affiliate in Sacramento where she coached producers and talent to create smarter and more memorable content.

Robin lives in Valley Glen with her husband, two boys and three dogs. Her first day is Wednesday, December 1.

I am looking forward to having Robin on the management team. Please join me in giving her a warm KTLA welcome.

Pete
