Subject: KTLA Director of Digital Content, Marc Sternfield

Please welcome Marc Sternfield to KTLA as Director of Digital Content. Marc will run ktla.com and our social media platforms.

Marc is currently News Director for Scripps-owned KSTU/Fox13 in Salt Lake City, overseeing both their TV and Digital operations. Previously he was Executive Producer of Digital Media for KDVR/Fox31, the former-Tribune-now-Nexstar station in Denver where he managed two websites and 24 neighborhood news microsites. Marc is a San Diego native. He is married with two children and is looking forward to getting back to Southern California and taking the already successful ktla.com to the next level. Marc's first day at KTLA is July 18.

I want to thank the dot com team – Cameron, Christine, Cindy, Gina, Nouran, Sareen, Tony and Travis – for doing a great job keeping the site going strong these many months. And I have tremendous gratitude for Bill Disbrow at Nexstar Media Wire for the invaluable time he has spent helping the team.

The team behind KTLA+ will continue to report up through Kerry and me.
Welcome Marc!

Pete
