Good afternoon Team DFW!

I have exciting news to share as a member of our work family takes on a new role.

Laurie will be transitioning into a new function within our operation: Director of Special Content.

In this capacity Laurie will:

- Manage our special projects unit (including working directly with Chad Cross & the Innovation Lab investigative team) – ensuring seamless content production across all screens and platforms
- Provide editorial oversight for our sales production content – helping to conceive and execute news integrations and content through non-traditional revenue
- Oversee and execute community-centric big picture coverage

I am excited to see Laurie flex her skills in these three key areas for our station.

She'll report to me, and work collaboratively with our news, creative services, sales and production teams.

This transition means we are actively recruiting for a News Director!

Please send any candidates you think would be the right fit for this amazing team my way.

Congratulations Laurie!

Raquel
