Rick…. I was on the desk at WFTV one day when I answered a call from a guy who said “I am on the southeast corner of Lake Monroe in Sanford and I’ve taught a squirrel how to waterski.” I said “smoke another one and call me back later.” My next call was from Ron Comings who said the story he was working on fell through. I was too embarrassed to tell him about a waterskiing squirrel so I just said “There’s a report of something going on at the southeast corner of Lake Monroe. Why don’t you check it out and call me back.” At 4:00 the back door of the newsroom banged open and Ron came running in waving a tape and shouting “You won’t believe this!” Twiggy the waterskiing squirrel made his television debut that night and went national on GMA the next morning. Ron and his photographer won Emmys.