

The Anne and Henry Zarrow School of Social Work
Program for Continuing Education in Social Work in Tulsa

Presents

Understanding and Empowering Survivors of Sex Trafficking
Through the Counseling Profession

1-4 pm

Friday, March 9, 2018

Sex trafficking is one of the most critical issues the world is facing in the 21st century. With this growing population, counselors are recognizing the need to be better informed about sexual slavery, cultural considerations of this population, and effective treatment approaches. This session will provide an overview of sex trafficking from the perspective of the client and the counselor and introduce trauma-sensitive interventions.

After this training participants will be able to:

- Define sex trafficking
- Give current information on sex trafficking
- Describe sex trafficking myths
- Recognize sex trafficking vocabulary
- Identify trauma-sensitive interventions
- Explain ways to be an advocate

Master Presenter

Cheri Mays is currently an adjunct instructor having previously taught in the Psychology and Sociology department coordinating the Community Counseling program at Rogers State University in Claremore, OK. She completed her undergraduate degree in Foreign Language Education at Abilene Christian University and her master's degree in Community Counseling at Oklahoma State University. She is a licensed professional counselor (LPC), a supervisor for LPC candidates in the state of Oklahoma, a National Certified Counselor, and a Certified Domestic Violence Counselor. She is currently completing a PhD in Counselor Education and Supervision at

The Anne and Henry Zarrow School of Social Work
Program for Continuing Education in Social Work in Tulsa

Oregon State University. She is a member of the American Counseling Association and American Counselor Education and Supervision. As a counselor, she has worked in community mental health, private practice, and in-patient behavioral health settings serving individuals, couples, families, and groups.

Location: OU-Tulsa Schusterman Center, 4502 E. 41st Street, Learning Center Room 145

Professional Rate $30.00 Student Rate $10.00
3 CEUs per session LCSW requirements

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER