Munson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital Welcomes Director of Quality/Risk Management

CHARLEVOIX, MI – Munson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital is pleased to welcome its newest administrative team member, Allen Stout, who has been named Director of Quality/Risk Management.

Mr. Stout is not unfamiliar with Munson Healthcare. Most recently, he has been working as an analyst at Munson's system level, where he has been involved in the optimization of system performance and continuous improvement of patient care and outcomes.

Allen has a master's degree in epidemiology and a bachelor's of arts in psychology and holds the rank of Major in the Michigan Air National Guard. His wide-ranging background and experience are sure to make a strong addition to the hospital.

"Allen is passionate about patient safety, getting in front of issues in order to find solutions," said Bernadette Cole, the hospital's chief nursing officer. "We are really looking forward to having him on board in this capacity and are certain he will hit the ground running."

"Allen is particularly well-qualified for this position," said Joanne Schroeder, the hospital's president. "He is data driven and very organized and we are delighted to welcome him to our Munson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital family."
