

Abteen Vaziri

Abteen Vaziri is a Dallas-based businessman, attorney, and congressional candidate who knows firsthand the consequences of Islamic rule. Born in Iran, he and his family fled the Islamic regime escaping a system built on oppression, censorship, and the suppression of basic freedoms. That experience didn't just shape his life — it drives his mission. Vaziri has built a successful career in finance, real estate, and law, but today he's stepping forward to sound the alarm: the same failed ideologies he escaped are now creeping into the United States under the guise of tolerance and political correctness.