

PAUL BAYLOCK

Paul Baylock grew up in New Britain, Connecticut. He was the second oldest child of ten in a Lithuanian/Irish family. Baylock attended Catholic schools from grade one to twelve and subsequently graduated from Hartford Art School with a Bachelors degree and Masters in Art Education. Baylock taught art in New Britain public schools at the middle and high school level for 38 years, retiring in 2012. He received his Masters plus 60 from CCSU, where he studied with Rachel Siporin, Dr. Michael Cipriano, Molly Bornstein, and Jenny Knauss.

Baylock has exhibited his art in numerous galleries and exhibitions. In 2018, His Hardware City Series was exhibited in the NEW/NOW gallery at New Britain Museum of American Art. He continues to paint and create with various media and genre.

Baylock has been very involved with the Art League of New Britain for the past nine years, serving as president for the last six years. Baylock has been married to his wife Sonia for 45 years. They have travelled extensively in Europe and Russia. They currently reside in New Britain. They have two children and three grandchildren.