2019 State Demography Summit Registration Open

This one day conference offers attendees the opportunity to learn about the most current population and economic conditions and forecasts for the state and its regions. These plenary sessions will not only cover the data and information but also implications for planning, policy, business, and public services. Experts will share recent research and programs surrounding housing demand and supply and future plans for the region. Sessions will also cover the latest status of Census 2020 and new tools for accessing Census and State Demography Office data.

Agenda Topics

- Updates on State Demography Office population estimates and forecasts,
- Federal, State, and Local updates and perspectives on the 2020 Census,
- Demonstration of the new Census data portal, data.census.gov,
- Data tools available from the State Demography Office, and
- Housing Supply and Demand: Why the disequilibrium? Impacts on households and potential solutions
