

SIPES ARCHITECTS

authentic + sustainable + modern

VALUES

Every project with Sipes Architects is rooted in being true — to our ourselves, our surroundings, and to you. We value authenticity and looking at every project with fresh eyes. We work with our clients and take cues from the natural environment to make intentional progress toward refined results.

Our sensibilities are modern in that we have a focus on simplicity in design and an emphasis on bringing the outside in. To be modern is to be mindful, and at the forefront of our process is a rich foundation of sustainability. We approach each project with an understanding of its regional and environmental impacts as well as the business, social and personal needs it must meet. We use natural materials to build in a way that is clean, logical and timeless. Our client's goals are our guiding path and we always strive to provide unsurpassed personal service and delight our clients with design solutions.

ABOUT

Sipes Architects is a unique firm in the Vail Valley that works closely with clients to envision custom designs and tailored renovations for homes, restaurants and hotels. Our team has a combined 70 years of experience in residential and commercial architecture, and our work is continuously inspired by our global travels and the natural mountain elements that surround us. We revere art, science, and the spirit of inspired design that helps to shape human experience. It's your dream space, and Sipes Architects is eager to bring it to life.

PROCESS

As architects, we work side by side in concentrated and engaged dialogue with clients to understand their dreams. Before a project begins, we want you to feel supported by our knowledgeable and competent team, here to help you through every step of the process.

Together with you we dive into visioning and imagination — into the most exciting part of design. The firm includes 3D visualization into our approach, incorporating renderings to project possibilities and enable the delivery of predictable results. We then work closely with your contractor, to ensure the project fulfills its true potential. We look forward to that moment when you step into your new space and see the dream alive, smiling at every perfect detail that you helped decide.

We strive to make design a fun and astonishing process, and we deeply enjoy connecting with and working for our clients on a personal level. It's our privilege to give form to your hopes and dreams.

At Sipes Architects, we strive to make good design affordable. We offer a range of delivery methods providing clients with unique and custom design consultation, where full-service documentation and construction monitoring isn't required. We work with you to discover the range and level of services your unique project requires.

We approach each project, whether residential or commercial, new build or renovation, with a unique understanding of the clients' visions, lifestyle, story, and budget.
