

FUTURIAN®

AHEAD OF THE CURVE

Futurian was founded on the premise that home and business technologies are becoming increasingly complex every day. Home Owners and Business Owners become overwhelmed with so many choices, the precise organization required to successfully select and purchase, and the time to maintain the electronics they need and want.

Therefore, Futurian's purpose is to remove the guesswork and present, implement, and maintain a complete and total technology solution consisting of audio, video, phone, data, security, and control system technology that meets precise expectations for their clients.

Futurian is supported by some of the most reputable manufacturers in the industry. Turnkey technology solutions are packaged with the most innovative and reliable hardware and software currently available. As the technology advances, Futurian continually plans ahead and keeps their clients aware and prepared for the future.

Futurian launched in Southlake, TX in September of 2003 and has since opened another location in the Vail Valley, CO. In addition, Futurian deploys a mobile workshop and crew that travel to almost anywhere in the World to implement systems.

With five International awards for multiple home and business systems, Futurian possesses the expertise to get it done with the highest level of professionalism. Free consultations and system design offer a very attractive way in which to obtain your technology.
