LUNCH FREE with Larry Kutt, CEO of Altitude Control Technologies, while LEARNING about ACT's award winning system that increases and regulates the oxygen levels in mountain homes to simulate lower altitude, improve sleep and eliminate altitude sickness for your clients.

Who should attend?

HOMEOWNERS will learn how to alleviate their symptoms to improve sleep, eliminate altitude sickness and understand the science and technology of the state-of-the-art control panel

ARCHITECTS | BUILDERS will learn how to design space into an existing or new home for easier installation

PROPERTY MANAGERS will learn how use ACT's control panel to ensure the system is idle when residents are away, and that the room is fully oxygenated when they return

HOME ELECTRONICS PROFESSIONALS will learn how the system integrates with home automation systems

INTERIOR DESIGNERS will learn how ACT's system easily integrates into any decorating style

REAL ESTATE PROFESSIONALS will learn how to present clients with a solution for altitude sickness for homeowners moving to altitude or for seniors who, as they age, can no longer breathe at altitude and are considering selling their beloved home
