DOUGLAS COUNTY COVID-19 RESPONSE TEAM - DAILY LOCAL UPDATE

(Douglas County, Ore.) We hear you! We know you are anxious and concerned about reopening Douglas County. We know families and businesses are struggling. We are all tired and want life to get back to some resemblance of normal. We are proud of our residents and businesses for hanging in there. That is why we are pushing hard to get the state to safely begin the reopening process sooner, rather than later. The bottom line is, the only person that can issue the reopening orders is our Governor. Douglas County Commissioners do not have the authority to override the Governor's executive COVID-19 orders. But, that doesn't mean we are not trying. As you know, Douglas County Commissioner Chris Boice spearheaded an urgent letter to the Governor on April 24, 2020, asking her to seriously consider an immediate Regional Phase One Reopening of SW Oregon. The letter was unanimously approved and signed by every County Commissioner in the 5 SW Oregon Counties (Douglas, Jackson, Coos, Curry and Josephine). To date, we have not heard back from the Governor on our proposal, but we will continue to actively advocate for a reopening plan. What can our residents do in the meantime? We encourage you to continue to support local businesses, help your neighbors and get involved in the public process by writing those letters, sending those emails, posting those REOPEN signs and making those phone calls directly to the Governors' Office and to your State Legislators. Let them know we have a voice to be heard.

Addressing Concerns about Pets Getting COVID-19

If you have pets, you may be wondering if your cat or dog is at risk of contracting COVID-19, or if they might somehow give it to you. State and federal health officials say that while there have been a few cases of animals contracting COVID-19 after having close contact with an infected human, the risk of transmission is very low. And there is no evidence of cats or dogs playing a role in spreading the virus to humans.

However, until more is learned about the virus in relation to animals, Oregon Health Authority and the CDC recommend taking a few precautions:

- Do not let pets interact with people or other animals outside the household.
- Keep cats indoors when possible to prevent them from interacting with other animals or people.
- Walk dogs on a leash, maintaining 6 feet of distance from other people and animals.
- Avoid dog parks or public places where large numbers of people and dogs gather.

“CDC is working with human and animal health partners to monitor this situation and will continue to provide updates as information becomes available,” the agency said on its website. “Further studies are needed to understand if and how different animals could be affected by COVID-19.” Have more questions? Visit the CDC’s FAQ page on pets and COVID-19, or read updates on the agency’s “If You Have Pets” page.

Spread Positivity and Gratitude with Homemade Signs

We’re all in need of a little positivity these days, and you can help! If you’re looking for a fun project to do yourself or with your kids, make a sign to put in your yard or window offering a positive message of support for a hero in your life. Make a sign that says how proud you are of your Aunt that is a nurse, your Grandpa that is helping with school lessons at home, your Mom that is working as a cashier, your Brother that is serving up food at the drive thru, your Dad that is driving a semi-truck or to show support for your favorite local store that is struggling. Chances are, you have the materials at home to do this without leaving the house – think cardboard, plywood, old sheets, paint, chalk, Christmas lights, or magic markers. Lowe’s Home Improvement created a list of ideas and instructions for creating homemade signs for your heroes. Search for #BuildThanks on social media to see some examples of what people across the country have come up with. The added bonus of spreading positivity and giving thanks is that it can help brighten up your own life by making others feel important!
