

A Study of Mikveh in Two Parts with Mayyim Hayyim's Amalia Mark

Thursdays 6 and 13 May at 7:30p

Session 1: The program will highlight the mikveh's biblical roots, construction, the process of immersion, a virtual tour, as well as ancient and contemporary reasons for immersion. The content is taught through the lens of Mayyim Hayyim's mikveh in Newton, MA, but the information is relevant broadly.

Session 2: We will do a deep dive into various Jewish texts on water and transition. All texts will be provided in translation. We will conclude our learning with contemplative journaling and a handwashing ceremony.

Amalia Mark is a soon-to-be-ordained rabbi from The Rabbinical School of Hebrew College. She is the Director of Programs and Partnerships at Mayyim Hayyim and has worked as an experiential Jewish educator for ages 8-80 all over the US. When not teaching about mikveh Amalia can be found on her third cup of coffee, reading, or learning to conquer her fear of falling off of her bicycle. Amalia and her spouse live in Cambridge, MA with their one cat and too many books.
