The Guild

OF THE GREENVILLE SYMPHONY

Welcome to the 65th year of the Greenville Guild!

The 2023-2024 symphony season brings a pleasing mixture of the familiar and the brand new. The familiar includes our areas of service: administration, education, development/fundraising, membership, and a new addition, hospitality. This season our concert previews will take place at Genevieve's for a pre-concert conversation with the conductor candidates. A membership favorite, master classes, will take place at the Governor's School as members observe young artists and a master teacher at work. In addition, Chamber Orchestra conductors will offer Insights for their concerts.

Our Guild Membership Directory will provide a complete calendar of events and several enjoyable ways for us to stay connected to one another. Monday membership meetings will present programs featuring GSO musicians, a music therapist and more. Our long-standing involvement in LOLLIPOPS and Children's Concerts will bring live music "up close and personal" to young people throughout our area.

In more than six decades of our work together, we have earned a stellar reputation as effective advocates of the Greenville Symphony. We have done it by depending upon one another as hard workers, steadfast fans of live music and faithful friends. We celebrate our members as they experience the rewards of volunteering, adjust their ears to new music and relish the challenges of leadership roles.

We look forward to another enjoyable year. Thank you in advance for saying yes when we contact you to join in the fun!

Dear friends,

I can't think of a better way to begin this than to say thank you. The Guild of the Greenville Symphony provides such invaluable support for our musicians and education programs all year long. Your willing spirits, enthusiastic advocacy, and passion for the music inspire me.

One of my favorite parts of concert week is the Friday musician dinner. Seeing the musicians enjoy the meal you so generously provide for them while having a chance to relax and catch up with each other is a wonderful thing. It's truly one of the things that makes the Greenville Symphony special.

This season, we've formalized our commitment to providing homestays for our out-of-town musicians by creating the Musician Host Program. Many of you have been hosting musicians for years, and we appreciate your spreading the word that this is a meaningful and much-needed service that we hope to expand. Offering this opportunity to musicians helps us to continue attracting top talent for our orchestra and is a fun way to get to know the artists! Be in touch with Jennifer Mullins at jennifer@greenvillesymphony.org for details.

A lot has changed since the Greenville Symphony's first concert 75 years ago. But one thing hasn't changed: our musicians' dedication to Greenville's audiences and their relentless pursuit of excellence. They are what make our orchestra great. As we embark on a season of decision and experience the programs curated by guest conductors, six of whom have the chance to become the next music director of the symphony, I am especially grateful for your care for our musicians and your support for our education programs. We cannot let the excitement of the season dull our focus on those who make the music and those who NEED the music.

Here's to our 76th season, a season like no other! I'll meet you in the concert hall, backstage, or at the library. I can't wait to share the joyful experience of music with you.

With gratitude,

Jessica Satava, Executive Director
