This year the Ogden Drama Club will put on the play Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Your Teachers (but were afraid to ask) by Jason Pizzarello. Hope to see you at our first Interest Meeting on Feb. 21 and Auditions on Feb. 26!

The play will take place for their school classmates on Thursday, April 24 during the school day and for parents and the community on Friday, April 25, in the evening.

All 5th and 6th graders are welcome; no experience necessary. We will have spots for actors and possibly set/props and hair/make-up, depending on the number of kids who sign up.

We do ask that you review this schedule before signing up; however, we need kids at most practices and all mandatory practices. Practice times vary between the Friday lunch hour and after school.

Sign up for Drama Club here. Drama Club is $35. A Cheddar Up link will be circulated at a later date. Families will not be asked to pay the drama club fee until students have the chance to check out the club by attending our first meeting and auditions.

We will also need volunteers to help run practices, the show, work on the set, etc... So please plan to help in some way—more info to come on this.

Thanks in advance. Looking forward to a fun show!

Please let Nichole Veihman know if you have any questions.
