United Way of Hernando County CRA Success Stories

Grieving Family of 7

A mother with 6 children lost her husband in October to a stroke, and contracted COVID-19 from work. United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds were able to pay her mortgage and give her peace of mind while grieving the family's recent loss.

"United Way showed compassion and helped me in my time of need. Single most uplifting and amazing experience, true angels working to help."

Employment Security and Stability

A stressed father was laid off at the beginning of the pandemic and fell behind on bills while he was searching for a job. He secured employment but was still in danger of being evicted with his wife and three children. United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds were able to keep them housed until his first paycheck.

The Ripple Effects of Daycare Closures

After COVID-19 closed a local daycare down, a single mother lost her job because she had to stay home to care for her child. She contributed along with United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds to cover her bills so she didn't fall behind until she found a new job.

"United Way helped me so much, and very quickly. My household was very blessed."

Impact on the Restaurant Industry

A restaurant worker lost hours when her place of employment shut down due to COVID-19. Once they reopened, she continued to lose hours, working sporadically, until they shut down a second time due to COVID-19. She received a 3-day eviction notice from her landlord, but United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds were able to help her pay her past due balance and remain housed.

Testing Positive for COVID-19

A client's husband started a new job at the beginning of September. Shortly after he started, the client tested positive for COVID-19 and the whole family had to quarantine. The husband was out of work through the middle of October without pay, and United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds helped them stay current on their bills for that gap of time.

"The help I received will stabilize my situation so I'm very happy for the assistance."

Focusing on Mental Wellness

A client was laid off in 2020 and his mental health was suffering due to the stress of the pandemic. His wife was struggling to make ends meet with just her income. There are 4 children and the wife's elderly mother with dementia in the household. United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds took care of their past due rent and electric bills, giving them some breathing room, so they can focus on his mental wellness.

Limitations due to High Risk Pregnancy

A pregnant client was working for a law firm and her doctor did not want her exposed to COVID-19 due to a high-risk pregnancy. Her employer did not approve and she was let go. She delivered her baby in November of 2020 and has since started a new job but was behind on rent. United Way's Coronavirus Relief Assistance funds helped her catch up during that gap of employment.

"I am very grateful to the United way for all their help and knowledge."
