

Alexander Matlock – Bio

Alexander Matlock is a Senior International Trade Specialist with the Missouri Department of Economic Development's Office of International Trade and Investment. He covers the St. Louis region and is responsible for liaising the State of Missouri's Foreign Office Network activities in the UK, EU, and Continental Europe. Since joining the agency in 2022, Alexander primarily works to promote the export of Missouri goods and services in global markets and represents the State abroad when escorting Missouri companies during trade missions, international tradeshows, and exhibitions.

Prior to his role with the State of Missouri, Alexander served as a Programme Rapporteur for the European Union Delegation to the United States under the U.S. Department of Commerce Vice Chair and helped author the current EU – U.S. Digital Privacy Framework.

Alexander has a Bachelor of Science in Public Administration from Harding University in Searcy, Arkansas, and a Master's Degree in Political Science and European Policy from James Madison University in Florence, Italy. He speaks English and Italian and has moderate proficiency in French and Greek. He resides in the City of Saint Louis as a seventh generation St. Louisan.