How it ends

Some years ago one of our parishioners asked a question that I suspect many have. They asked, "What happens when we die?" That is a question that is open to many answers. One might focus on the physiological. What happens to our physical body when we die? Or the social dimension of our death. What happens to our kin and friendship group when we die? Do the relationship we hold together fall apart? Important and interesting, but when we think about ourselves and death we are probably wondering what happens to our conscious selves. Do we in some way continue on as the self-aware personalities we are in this mortal life? In short, that appears to be the case.

In chapter 6 of John's Gospel, Jesus speaks of himself as the bread of life. All who believe in him, he will raise up on the last day. All who feed upon his bread, that is, who make him part of themselves, he will raise up on the last day. This "bread of life discourse" as it is called follows his feeding of the five thousand. I see that feeding, where he takes five small barley loaves and two small fish as a parable on the grace of his life that is given for the world. As five loaves and two fish can give for that day life sustaining nourishment to five thousand men plus uncounted women and children, even more so can the bread of life of Jesus give eternal life to all. What happens when we die appears connected to believing and receiving and taking in this bread of life. Receiving this bread ensures that mortal death is not the end of our selves as self-aware personalities. And there is more when we die.

Four times in this discourse, Jesus speaks of the last day. Later, Martha tells Jesus that she believes her brother will be raised on the last day. It is a time when all who have believed and received the bread of life, will be resurrected to eternal life. The resurrection of Lazarus was a foretaste of that last day. A physical body called and known as Lazarus with a self-aware personality is alive again. In the same way, George Washington, Mother Teresa, Elvis, etc. will be alive on that last day. And a day it will be. One eternal day. As the revelation to John says, the new Jerusalem is joined to the new Earth. God is the light of this new creation and there is no need for sun nor moon, so no night as we know it, just eternal day. So it is when we die that we live in the eternal presence of God, heaven and earth joined, somehow renewed with resurrection bodies but with continuity with our current self-awareness.

What does this mean for us? It means that we have a great hope. It means that regardless of all our successes and failures, all our striving or all our quitting, all the regret and grief we carry due to things done or left undone, all ends well. It all ends well because of the life and love of Jesus freely given. So live with free and abundant love for God, yourself, and your neighbor. It all ends well.

Grace and peace,

Fr. Bill+

June

The Shepherd's Voice

THE HOUND OF HEAVEN

Well, once again, a new Christian is "Born of Water and the Holy Spirit" and sealed as Christ's own forever.

I certainly didn't see this coming.... A young man, Isaac, texted me a few weeks ago. I hadn't heard from nor seen Isaac in over 15 years, when he was but a boy. He asked, "will you baptize me please...on my birthday....which is this coming Sunday...in the river?"

But then, I am often blindsided by the movements of The Holy Spirit, however clear this movement be. From out of the blue, this fervent request to enter into the Holy through water and the Spirit astounded me. "Let's meet tomorrow.... and talk about this." I stammered in my text back to Isaac. "Great", says Isaac. "And, oh, my best friend wants to be baptized too."

Lordy me, I thought. "Both of you come over tomorrow afternoon." As it turned out, the best friend, Philip, was also a student of mine from years past.

Francis Thompson wrote a poem entitled, "The Hound of Heaven" in 1990 about the relentless and compassionate pursuit of God (Hound of Heaven) who seeks to draw the soul back to Him despite its attempts to escape or ignore divine callings. Well, the Hound caught both Isaac, Philip and this elderly deacon. God's persistent love and pursuit sometimes is ever so clear.

I called Father Bill and presented Isaac's and Philip's request. "Go for it", Bill said.

In the chilly pristine waters of Buck Creek, surrounded by twenty some odd family and friends, we baptized Isaac Thurmond and reaffirmed Philip's baptism when he was a child. With leaky waders and the able assistance from Owen Gibson (whom we had, years ago, previously baptized in the Hiawassee River with snow on the ground), we waded into the holy and blessed tide of Buck Creek at the home of Darry and Barbara Wood. Two, clean of sin, full of joy and commitment, young men emerged from the font of the creek, reborn of Water and the Holy Spirit, as Christians.

We Christians, members of the Body of Christ, are called to make "little Christs" (C.S. Lewis) of those whom the Spirit has pursued and called. What an honor and responsibility we bear. I do love the slobber of the Hound of Heaven.

~Deacon Turner Guidry

I fled Him, down the nights and down the days;
I fled Him, down the arches of the years;
I fled Him, down the labyrinthine ways
Of my own mind; and in the mist of tears
I hid from Him, and under running laughter.

(Francis Thompson (1890))

MEET RICHARD & ELEANOR (NORA) BROSZEIT

Richard and Nora recently moved to Warne, NC from Naples, FL. For the past three years, they've been visiting during the summer. Nora says, "When we first stayed at the Deerfield Inn, we saw the Episcopal sign for Good Shepherd on Rt. 64 and visited. We felt warmly welcomed."

They found a seasonal rental on Ledford Chapel Rd. and began attending Good Shepherd regularly. For the next two summers they rented in Young Harris and continued to attend. "Because of its sense of community, GS was part of our decision to move to the area," she adds. "We just love the mountains and being able to breathe fresh air."

The couple has been married for 48 years, thanks to a 1976 computer match. "Our children, Rhonda (53) and Eric (44) are both divorced and live in New Jersey, so NO grandchildren," Nora says.

Before retirement, Richard worked in IT for Merck Medco. Nora was an accountant working for Nonanonymous Inc. in New York City for 20 years.

Richard is an avid bookworm and reads 3-5 books a week, and he is also a very good cook. "He will be 90 this year and isn't in good health," Nora says.

Nora says she spends her free time with a little gardening and on the computer playing 3 different Candy Crush games. She loves singing in the choir. She would like to become a lay reader and continue to support the choir in some way. "I also hope to get involved with Peacock Theater. At this point, we are just hoping not to kick the bucket!!"

Roast & Toast

After the 11am service on June 8th, we will be Roasting & Toasting Keith Christensen & Carol Smucker as they retire!

The church will be providing ham & biscuits. We ask that you join us and please, bring something to share. Also, please be thinking of your toasting ideas!

Reading Mark
Mondays at 10 AM
June 9 -30 in the Library

The earliest written of the four Gospels, the Gospel according to Mark provides much material found in both Matthew and Luke. Those Gospels borrow heavily from Mark but reorganize and extend that borrowed text to make their own witness to the mission and ministry of God in Jesus Christ. Mark has been considered lesser than the other Gospels: lesser as a piece of literature, lesser theologically, lesser as a basis for liturgy, lesser as a call to mission. A closer examination of Mark, however, reveals some of its genius and why it is the first among the Gospels.

Bring your Bibles as we read Mark and discover some of its riches. This will be the first in a series of short courses on the four Gospels.

The Shepherd's Voice

On Tuesday, June 17th we are hosting our Cancer Support Group in the Parish Hall at 5pm. We are hoping to offer support to those on the journey of dealing with, surviving, and/or caring for someone with cancer. Bring something to share in thoughts, ideas, and of course some food. Contact Jose Arias by email if you can't attend in person but would like to be part of the meeting by zoom: jose_m_arias@hotmail.com

DENTAL FUND UPDATE

Mark Your Calendar!

Good Shepherd's annual Blueberry Festival happens July 20th at 12:15 p.m. Handmade arts and crafts items donated by our parishioners will be on sale, plus baked goods. This fundraiser benefits our Dental Ministry.

Several years ago, a generous anonymous donor created the dental fund for children without insurance in Clay and Towns Counties. GSEC launched the Blueberry Festival last year to provide ongoing support for this ministry.

Festival organizer Patti Brownlee says the program has served 23 young people, to date. "Most referrals come from the dental clinic to the church office, usually just for basic care. But this year they've had two major cases. The first one was a child from Towns County who needed major dental care beyond what the clinic could do, to the tune of over $2,000. School nurses worked with a specialty clinic to make it happen."

In the second case, a Clay County child's fall precipitated an emergency situation, again above the level of care the clinic could provide. A school counselor paid for the treatment and the parish dental fund is trying to get her reimbursed.

We invite parishioners to share their talents for this important ministry by donating handmade works to sell at the festival. All mediums are encouraged. Pieces featuring blueberries or the color blue are wonderful, but any designs are welcome. Items will be displayed on tables or stands. Nothing will be mounted, so size matters.

If you've created arts or crafts you'd be willing to donate to this effort, or if you'd like to contribute to the bake sale, contact Patti Brownlee (863-517-0070 or Brownleepj@aol.com).

The Shepherd's Voice

The Scholarship Committee of the Bethel-Guidry Scholarship is pleased to announce this years recipients. This year's scholarships were awarded to the following seniors:

Hayesville High School:

Emma Ashe of Hayesville was awarded $2000 for her upcoming first year in college. She plans on attending Young Harris College to major in social work and in business. Emma has demonstrated exceptional and compassionate volunteerism through spending a great deal of time visiting and sitting with people living in nursing and rehabilitation facilities. She has a deep love for giving, especially to those who might be lonely and forgotten. Emma may reapply each successive school year for an additional $2000 and will also receive a bonus of $2000 upon graduation from a four year college or university.

Towns County High School:

Connor Williams of Hiawassee is the Towns County recipient. He will receive our first year scholarship of $2000. Connor plans on attending Georgia Southern University and plans on studying business and real estate. Coaching elementary age children in various sports, especially those kids who have no fathers to guide them, has been Connor's joy and worthwhile contribution to his community. As Connor continues with his studies he will be eligible for $2000 each year and $2000 upon college graduation.

Congratulation, Graduates!

Deanna DuBose is proud to share that her granddaughter, Ava Joy Couturiac has just graduated from Lake Dallas High School in Corinth, TX.

Carol Smucker is celebrating her grandson, Lucas Erickson, who graduated in January from the Arts and Communication Magnet Academy in Beaverton, Oregon, and has just completed his first courses in a welding program at a local Community College.

Paul & Kaye Teronde are proud to share that their grandson, Parrish Wiggins, graduated with a Bachelors degree in Fine Arts (Architecture/Interior Design) from Georgia State University. Parrish will start his Masters Degree in Architecture at Notre Dam University this fall.

Kanute & Kathy Rarey are celebrating 2 graduates! Kathryn Sims Wadley has graduated from Ashley Hall in Charleston, SC. She will attend University of the South in Sewanee, TN, where her study is undecided. Additionally, their grandson, Anthony Maurer has graduated from Bishop Ready High School in Columbus, OH, and plans to attend Columbus State University, with his field of study undecided.

Cheri Pinner Quillen is proud to share that her granddaughter, Bronte Elaine Bigham, graduated from Hayesville High School.

Fred & Mary Stewart King are celebrating the graduation of their granddaughter, Ava King, with honors, from Innovation Academy, Alpharetta, GA,

Dave & Barb Field are proud to share that their grandson, Finlay Posada, graduated with honors from Pope High School in Cobb County, GA.
