

Stephanie Rader-Titzel Bio

Stephanie Rader-Titzel is the newest staff member of Penn Central Conference. She started here in April, 2017 as Director of Communications and Generosity.

Prior to coming to Penn Central Conference, she was an adjunct communications professor at Messiah College and held varying positions at Sprint, over a 20 year career, in communications, public relations, sales, marketing and corporate real estate. Her non-profit experience includes a tenure at the Girl Scouts where she served as Chief Marketing and Communications Officer here in Harrisburg.

Stephanie holds a masters of arts in public communication from American University, with a specialization in public relations and a bachelor of science in mass communication with minors in advertising and journalism from Towson University. She is a 1991 graduate of Broadneck High School in Annapolis, Maryland.

Stephanie married her husband, John, in 2007 and they have one child, Drew, an enthusiastic eight year old son along with a Cavalier King Charles Spaniel named Toby. Stephanie loves basketball (coaching, cheering or playing), water of any and every kind and being a mom.

