

Superhero Training Camp

Beyond Belief: The Universe of God

Intergenerational Camp: Labor Day Week End 2018

August 31-September 3 (arriving any time after 2 pm Friday and returning home after breakfast Monday)

Come and Embrace Your Inner Superhero that calls you to go “Beyond Belief” with God!

Over Labor Day Week end, Hartman Center will be filled with superheroes (whether they recognize it or not). Join with people from all walks of life, all ages, abilities and stages in faith to explore the vast Universe of God in new and amazing ways as we discover and celebrate each of our “Superhero” gifts that can make a difference in all the places we go.

MORE INFORMATION:

Pastor Libby Nocheck and husband Lee Nocheck are leading the intergenerational camp at Hartman Center over Labor Day Week end. Take advantage of this opportunity to get away, relax and re-create with God’s help before the busy fall begins. Over the week end, we will be discovering and celebrating our Superhero Powers (the gifts God has given each of us) in order for the Universe of God to go further into the places we go. The week end plans include opportunities to fish, tie dye, pray, read Scriptures, swim, worship in the outdoors, relax, sit around the fire, sing, make ice cream, play games, and so much more.

All meals are provided. Housing will be in the fully accessible Michaux Lodge.

Register online at: <https://hartmancenter.com/summer-camp/> under “Online Registration.”

Adults: $230, children 6-11 $115, children 5 and under are free
