

Experienced Non-Profit Program Manager

Safe Communities is seeking a creative, professional, flexible and highly skilled program manager to help build a social justice-based nonprofit in Lancaster PA focused on ending child sexual abuse and innovative group healing models for adult survivors. Knowledge of the field of child sexual abuse and ability to review and apply research to creating educational content a must. The right candidate will be on an executive director track of 2-4 years and an excellent leader, capable of developing and executing strategies, supervising staff, and working with religious and non-religious constituencies. Emotional capacity to work daily with child sexual abuse content and application of social justice approaches a must. Position includes production and presentation of professional level power points, creating content and teaching adults and children about sexual abuse prevention, fund raising and promotion of fee-based services, development of social media and website content, and financial and administrative management for a small office using MS OneDrive. In-office required 2-3 days a week, rest may be worked remotely. Starting salary mid-30s, with potential for more depending on ability to meet targets for generated revenue.

No phone calls. Email resume and cover letter detailing your experience and knowledge of the field to endcsa13@gmail.com

Safe Communities is fiscally sponsored by Humanitarian Social Innovations, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit in Bethlehem, PA.