COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will focus on a close reading of the argument of 1 Peter (using a modified form of discourse analysis to be introduced in class), with an eye to Peter's understanding of Jesus as the Messiah, his use of the OT Scriptures, and the (new) covenant framework for understanding his theologically-driven ethics.

To that end, we will work to determine the flow of the biblical text's structure and argument, within its own historical, literary, and biblical-theological context, in order to determine its main points and how they are supported.

In doing so, the course will highlight Peter's focus on the sovereignty of God, the example and reign of Christ in view of his redemptive suffering, death, resurrection, and ascension, and the work of the Spirit within the church as "a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, and God's special possession" (1 Peter 2:9).

The goal of this course is to allow 1 Peter to help us recover the future focus of our faith in order that we might face faithfully the current challenges and anxieties of living as "exiles" in this world.
