

Dr. Scott's Thoughts

I want our world/my world to be normal again. I want things to be the way they were before the pandemic. After receiving both vaccine shots, I really began to believe that my world would be able to return to normal. As a result of new variants like Delta and now Mu and so many people who choose not to be vaccinated, Covid 19 is on the rise again. I have heard that the hospitals that treat children in Tarrant County are so full that if a child needed a routine appendectomy, it would be a problem.

I want my church to be normal again. We are all wearing masks again. I'm sure that we are washing/cleansing our hands again. I trust that we are social distancing in every way possible. I'm resisting the temptation to shake hands, but it's really hard when someone instinctively sticks out their hand to remember to bump fists or elbows. My doctor, and I'm told many other doctors, only bump shoes as a greeting. It's really kind of strange, but I know that he knows what is best for him.

Please do your part in breaking the chain that this virus needs to maintain the pandemic. If this was a small pox epidemic and you were around people who might be carrying the disease, what precautions would you take. Just because you can't see pox marks on the faces of those who have been exposed, don't let your guard down. We are all dependent upon each one's willingness to do what is necessary to get life and worship back to normal.

"Don't just be blessed, be a blessing to others."
