

Leesburg Mobile Home Park Housing Displacement

Donate today to help 86 local families

Let's show our neighbors they're not alone.

86 families in our community will need to relocate by the end of the year as a local mobile home park makes way for new development. While some support is being offered, many families will face significant unmet needs—from deposits and moving costs to replacing essentials.

We are inviting churches, local businesses, and individuals to come together in compassion and action.

You can donate now to the "Housing Transition Fund"—a flexible, needs-based resource that trusted social work agencies will access to support the families impacted by housing dislocation.

The Northern Piedmont Region of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia and Leesburg Presbyterian Church have already contributed $7,500 to launch this fund.

Some of the ways the 86 families are impacted:

- Loss of equity in their homes
- Relocation expenses
- New deposits and down payments required
- Fragmenting an established community of neighbors
- Children forced to change schools mid-year

All happening during the upcoming holiday season

Memo: Housing Transition Fund

While Leesburg Presbyterian Church is serving as the collection hub for this fund, it will not distribute the money directly to the impacted residents. All donations will be transferred to the Northern Virginia Affordable Housing Alliance (NVAHA), who will partner with a local nonprofit to ensure funds are equitably and responsibly distributed.
