Questions to Ask:

- What can I do to support POC in my community?
- How can I help to end racial discrimination and systematic oppression?
- Am I actively anti-racist?

How Do I Help Right Now?

- Reach out to your black friends, family, colleagues, peers and community members.
- Contact members of your state legislature to repeal and rewrite laws (e.g., New York State's law 50-A, which shields the personnel records of police officers, firefighters and corrections officers).
- Support black businesses; find them on: We Buy Black, The Black Wallet, or Official Black Wall Street

Educate Yourself:

- Read:

    - The New Jim Crow: Mass Incarceration in the Age of Colorblindness by Michelle Alexander
    - The Next American Revolution: Sustainable Activism for the Twenty-First Century by Grace Lee Boggs
    - Black Feminist Thought by Patricia Hill Collins
- Research and be well versed on what is happening in your community always and make conscious decisions.
- Research and vote for the politicians that stand for change.
- Be anti-racists not "not racist".
