Discussion Questions:

1. What was the inspiration behind the making of the Saint John's Bible?
2. What role does art play in our lives of faith? What role has art played in church history?
3. What did you find most interesting about the making of the Saint John's Bible? Is this Bible just about a completed project, or is there a story to tell?
4. What are the benefits and drawbacks of reading and experiencing an illustrated Bible?
5. Does the art in the Saint John's Bible have a singular meaning or is some of it up for interpretation?
6. Historically speaking, why is a project like this important?
7. What specific themes and questions did you want to raise with the group for discussion?
8. Do you have any personal "takeaways" from having perused this book?
